ILA/1/1/1	Founding documents: Proceedings of the International Conference for the Reform and Codification of International Law at Brussels, 10-13 October 1873, which led to the formation of the Association for the Reform and Codification of the Law of Nations, subsequently re-named the International Law Association. These notes were written in 1899 or later, possibly as a draft for the publication of the First or Second Conference Report (published in 1903). Also several pages of notes on the proceedings written in a different hand (possibly closer to the time), and hand-written 'Minutes of Inaugural Meeting: M. Auguste Visschers in the Chair' (notes in French). Also attendance list for the 10th of October; handwritten notes on the constitution and annotated printed copy; eight copies of pamphlet 'Association for the Reform and Codification of the Law of Nations: Officers, Minutes, and Proceedings, etc.', containing constitution of the Association, 1874; two contemporary newspaper clippings on the conference; 'The Law Journal' VIII:406, 25th October 1873, containing a letter from Montague Bernard about the Brussels conference; and three pamphlets, 'Der Verein für die Reform und Kodifizierung des Völkerrechts' by E. E. Wendt (annotated date 012th August 1878), 'Association	2 folders	1873 - [1903]

ILA/1/8/1: UNESCO subventions, 1969-1995

Extent and form: 34 folders

Scope and content: correspondence, reports and financial documents re research grants awarded by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) to the International Law Association (ILA). From 1975 onwards an overall contract was drawn up between the International Social Science Council (ISSC) and UNESCO, whereby a single grant was made by UNESCO to the ISSC. In return the ISSC and its constituent associations undertook the multidisciplinary study of social problems arising from the development process. Although effectively the UNESCO money was distributed to organisations such as the ILA as ISSC grants, the ILA continued to refer to the grants, both in filing and in internal correspondence, as 'UNESCO subventions', and so that name has been retained in the catalogue.

Access: open 30 years after last date on file. CLOSED items are designated in red.

ILA/3/4	Air Law Committee. Correspondence, reports and administrative papers. Various known as Aerial Law/Aviation Law/Air and Space Law Committee, the Committee was established in 1912 following a decision taken at the Paris Conference of that year and was initially engaged in preparatory work for the first international Air Convention. This work was interrupted by the war, and when the Committee resumed, it was to find that work in the field had been accelerated by international events. In 1919, an International Air Convention was signed by several states of the Allied and Associated Powers, with air navigation between the signatories and the enemy states being governed by several Treaties of Peace. The 1919 Convention also provided for the establishment of a permanent International Commission for Air Navigation as part of the organisation of the League of Nations. The role of the Aerial Law Committee of the ILA thus became to comment and advise on the 1919 Convention, as noted in the Conference Report of the 29th Conference held at Portsmouth in 1920.	6 folders; 1 volume	1911-1937

ILA/3/5	Maritime Law Committee. Minutes and publications. The ILA involved itself in maritime law at an early stage, achieving at its 1877 Antwerp Conference the feat of unifying the Rules of General Average, which almost immediately came into use as the York-Antwerp Rules of General Average (see ILA/3/14). These were revised again at ILA conferences in Liverpool in 1890, and in Stockholm in 1924. The Maritime Law Committee of the ILA drafted the Hague Rules, 1921. They were adopted by the ILA at their thirtieth Conference at the Hague, September 1921. The ILA also played a key role in the formation of the International Maritime Committee/ Comité Maritime International, after Antwerp lawyer Louis Franck addressed a plea to the ILA for the formation of an international organisation to achieve international unification of maritime law through the elaboration of relevant international draft treaties. This was approved and supported by the ILA in 1896, leading to the formation of the Belgian Association of Maritime Law in Antwerp. In 1897, several National Associations, taking the Belgian Association as a model, joined together to form the International Maritime Committee.	2 folders	1875-1950

ILA/3/19	International Committee on the Legal Aspects of Inter-Country Adoption and Protection of Children. Minutes, correspondence, and texts of regulations. Planning for a committee on 'International Recognition of the Adoption of Children' began in 1984 at the request of the Director of Studies to the Executive Council authority, following suggestions made to him by the Argentine and Netherlands branches. J.H.A. van Loon was appointed by the Executive Council as Rapporteur at its meeting of 26 April 1986. By 1989, the committee had been established as the 'Committee on Legal Aspects of Intercountry Adoption and Protection of Children'. In anticipation of the coming into force, in 1995, of the Hague Convention on Protection of Children and Co-operation in Respect of Intercountry Adoption, the Committee was renamed as the 'Committee on Legal Aspects of Intercountry Adoption and Protection of the Family' to investigate familial legal issues as a continuum. Mr van Loon resigned as Rapporteur of the Committee to focus on his work, as First Secretary, Hague Conference on Private International Law, on the 1993 Hague Convention. He was succeeded by Dr. Gail McKnight Beckman and Dr. Monica Grill as joint Rapporteurs. The Committee was wound up by the Executive Council on 26th April 1997. CLOSED until 2029	1 folder	1985-1998

ILA/4/14: International Law Association in the Free City of Danzig, 1936-1938

Extent and form: 1 folder

Administrative history: The Free City of Danzig (German: Freie Stadt Danzig; Polish: Wolne Miasto Gdansk) was a semi-autonomous city-state that existed between 1920 and 1939, consisting of the Baltic Sea port of Danzig (now Gdansk, Poland) and nearly 200 towns in the surrounding areas. It was created on 15 November 1920[01][2] in accordance with the terms of Article 100 (Section XI of Part III) of the 1919 Treaty of Versailles after the end of World War I. After the German invasion of Poland in 1939, the Nazis abolished the Free City and incorporated the area into the newly formed Reichsgau of Danzig-West Prussia. After the war, the city became part of Poland, as a consequence of the Potsdam Agreement.

ILA/5: Papers of the Grotius Society, 1915-1956

Extent and form: 5 archive boxes

Administrative history: the Grotius Society was a British society founded in 1915 to carry on the work of the ILA, whose operations had been suspended during the First World War. It was originally called the Laws of War Committee but changed its name in July 1915. Its objects were declared as being "to afford facilities for discussion of the Laws of War and Peace, and for interchange of opinions regarding their operation, and to make suggestions for their reform, and generally to advance the study of international law." Its membership was originally restricted to British subjects, although membership nominations suggest that by 1920 this was no longer the case. In 1958 it was dissolved on the merger with the Society of Comparative Legislation and International Law, founded in 1895, to form the British Institute of International and Comparative Law
