BAR COUNCIL ARCHIVES: SERIES LIST

BCO 01: Constitution Files, 1883-1973

Extent and form: 3 files

Scope and content: apart from the 1936 letter in BCO 01/03 and the 1973 report in BCO 01/02, these files relate to the formation of the Bar Committee in 1883 and its reconstitution as the Bar Council in 1894. However, the files in this series were compiled at a later date than their contents were created and at some point were assigned the reference OS 35.

Item list:

Reference	Title	Scope and Content	Dates
BCO 01/01	Constitution of the Bar Committee and Bar Council	Contains two sub-files: the first relating to the 1883 formation of the Bar Committee, including the Memorial to the Attorney General and his reply (6 documents); the second relating to the Bar Committee's reconstitution as the Bar Council, including the James' Committee Report, resolutions, the Regulations and the Bye-Laws (8 documents).	1883–1895
BCO 01/02	1883 Bar Committee Copies of Regulations and Bye-Laws	Contains two sub-files: the first consisting of multiple copies of the 1883 Regulations, Bye-Laws and election documents (5 documents); the second contains the Interim Report of the Special Committee on the Regulations and By-Laws of the Council, March 1973.	1883–1973
BCO 01/03	Constitution of the Bar Council – Correspondence with Inns	Apart from one letter, the correspondence relates to the reconstitution of the Bar Committee as the Bar Council (12 documents). The 1936 letter describes the role of the Bar Council in relation to the Attorney General.	1894–1936

BCO 02: Regulations and By-Laws (Office Copies), 1910-1970

Extent and form: 8 booklets and 1 document

Administrative history: the Regulations are the constitution of the Bar Council. The first Regulations were drafted for the Bar Committee in 1883. Following the formation of the Bar Council in 1894, the Regulations were revised in 1895. The next complete revision took place in 1946. The implementation of the Pearce Committee's recommendations led to Regulations being introduced in 1974 for the Senate of the Inns of Court and the Bar. New Regulations were again produced for the General Council of the Bar in 1986, in preparation for the revised arrangements which came into effect on 1 January 1987. The Bar Council's By-Laws were usually printed in the same booklet as the Regulations.

Scope and content: none of the Regulations and By-Laws in this series exactly duplicates those in BCO 03, although a few only contain minor variations.

Related material: see BCO 03.

BCO 04: Bar Council Minutes, 1883-1950

Extent and form: 22 minute books and 2 documents

Reproduction: photocopying not permitted, due to the large number of attachments. Photography of the minutes permitted. Photography of the attachments at the IALS Archivist's discretion.

Scope and content: the signed minutes of the Bar Committee/Bar Council, general meetings of the Bar and the annual general meetings of the Bar.

The minute books contain a large number of attachments, including agenda papers from 1896; the Regulations; the By-Laws; the Annual Statement; election documents such as lists of members retiring, lists of candidates proposed and election results; lists of committee members; committee and sub-committee reports, especially if they were printed; and letters and documents sent to the Bar Council which were being considered. After the Second World War fewer documents were attached to the minute books, mainly comprising of agenda papers, the Annual Statement and election documents.

It appears the minutes of the Bar Council after September 1950 are no longer extant, as later minutes were not transferred to IALS. The meeting held on 27 July 1950 is the last regular meeting recorded in BCO 04/22 and the minutes were signed and dated on 8 November 1950 (the 20 September 1950 meeting was a special meeting on the Legal Aid and Advice Act and the minutes are unsigned), which indicates Bar Council meetings continued. From May 1949 the minutes are typescript and pasted into the minute book, so it is a reasonable assumption filing practice changed to a different method in the autumn of 1950, such as filing in folders, and this may account for the lack of continuity in the survival of the minutes.

Related material: some agenda papers can be found in BCO 05 and BCO 06. Copies of the Regulations and By-Laws are in BCO 02 and BCO 03. The Annual Statements can also be found in BCO 18, BCO 19 and BCO 20. For detailed election records see BCO 21.

Finding aids: each volume contains an integral index. There is a system of cross referencing in the margins to the minutes of other meetings, to the minute books of other committees and to the letter books.

Important notes for users: the Annual Statements in these volumes must not be unfolded. Please use the set of Annual Statements in series BCO 19.

Great care must be taken when unfolding the other documents attached to these volumes, to prevent damage to either the volume or the attached documents.

Where pages are stuck together they must not be forced apart – please alert the IALS Archivist if you find any stuck pages not noted below, so arrangements can be made for them to be assessed by a conservator.

BCO 07: Register of Reports to the Bar Council, 1883-1943

Extent and form: 1 volume, 1 document

Reproduction: photocopying not permitted

Scope and content: alphabetical register of reports to the Bar Committee/Bar Council, 1883-1922, giving the report number, title and date together with their minute book and Annual Statement references. The register is annotated if the report was adopted and/or printed or reproduced in some other way.

There are lists at the rear of the register of the dates covered by each volume of the Bar Council and committees' minute books and the letter books, which is complete to 1943. In addition, there is a list of newspapers, for both the London and regional press, dated July 1908.

Finding aids: The register cross references to the minute books and to the Annual Statements.

Item list:

Reference	Title	Scope and Content	Extent	Dates
BCO 07/01a	List of reports register	When a letter's allocation of space in the register was exhausted, additional reports were listed on sheets of paper inserted in the appropriate page.	1 volume	1883-1943
BCO 07/01b	List of reports (Mss)	Found inside the front cover of BCO 07/01.	1 document	1883-1898

BCO 08: Executive Committee Minutes, 1902-1952

Extent and form: 6 volumes [2 wanting]

Reproduction: photocopying not permitted, due to the large number of attachments. Photography of the minutes permitted, except for BCO 08/07 which does not open fully following rebinding. Photography of the attachments at the IALS Archivist's discretion.

Administrative history: the Executive Committee was one of the standing committees established under the Bar Council Regulations of 1896.

For a long period the Executive Committee met less frequently than the Bar Council, but from the 1940s it met more frequently.

Scope and content: in addition to the signed Executive Committee minutes, these minute books contain minutes of joint committees and sub-committees, particularly during the 1946-1947 period when the Bar Council was reorganising itself and in 1950 when joint meetings were held with the Legal Aid Committee.

The minute books contain attachments, including agenda papers in 1927, from 1934-1945 and from 1947-1950; reports; and letters and documents sent to the Bar Council which were being considered. There are fewer attachments after 1945, when they mainly comprise agenda papers.

It appears the minutes of the Executive Committee after June 1952 are no longer extant, as later minutes were not transferred to IALS. The minutes of 9 June 1952, which were signed, noted the next meeting was to be held on 30 June 1952, indicating the Executive Committee continued. From October 1950 the minutes are typescript and pasted into the minute books, so it is a reasonable assumption filing practice changed to a different method in the summer of 1952, such as filing in folders, and this may account for the lack of continuity in the survival of the minutes.

Finding aids: each volume contains an integral index. There is a system of cross referencing in the margins to the minutes of other meetings, to the minute books of other committees and to the letter books.

Important notes for users: great care must be taken when unfolding the documents attached to these volumes, to prevent damage to either the volume or the attached documents.

Reproduction: photocopying not permitted, due to the large number of attachments. Photography of the minutes permitted. Photography of the attachments at the IALS Archivist's discretion.

Administrative history: the Professional Conduct Committee was one of the standing committees established under the Bar Council Regulations of 1896.

Scope and content: contains signed minutes. The minute books contain attachments, mainly agenda papers from 1935-1954 and letters. There are fewer attachments after 1945, when they almost entirely comprise agenda papers.

It appears the minutes of the Professional Conduct Committee after June 1954 are no longer extant, as later minutes were not transferred to IALS. From January 1951 the minutes are typescript and pasted into the minute books, so it is a reasonable assumption filing practice changed to a different method in 1954, such as filing in folders, and this may account for the lack of continuity in the survival of the minutes.

Finding aids: each volume contains an integral index. There is a system of cross referencing in the margins to the minutes of other meetings, to the minute books of other committees and to the letter books.

Important notes for users: great care must be taken when unfolding the documents attached to these volumes, to prevent damage to either the volume or the attached documents.

Where pages are stuck together they must not be forced apart – please alert the IALS Archivist if you find any such pages not noted below, so arrangements can be made for them to be assessed by a conservator.

BCO 11: Court Buildings Committee Minutes, 1896-1958

Extent and form: 2 volumes

Reproduction: photography of the minutes permitted. Photocopying and photography of the attachments at the IALS Archivist's discretion.

Administrative history: the Court Buildings Committee was one of the standing committees established under the Bar Council Regulations of 1896.

The Court Buildings Committee did not have a regular schedule of meetings, but met as the need arose.

Scope and content: contains signed minutes. The minute books contain some attachments; they are mainly letters, but also reports and agenda papers from 1935.

It appears the minutes of the Court Buildings Committee after May 1958 are no longer extant, as later minutes were not transferred to IALS. The minutes of 20 May 1958 were signed and dated on 22 October 1958, which indicates the Court Buildings Committee continued. From March 1955 the minutes are typescript and pasted into the minute books, so it is a reasonable assumption filing practice changed to a different method in the autumn of 1958, such as filing in folders, and this may account for the lack of continuity in the survival of the minutes.

Finding aids: both volumes contain an integral index. There is a system of cross referencing in the margins to the minutes of other meetings, to the minute books of other committees and to the letter books.

BCO 12: Business and Procedure Committee Minutes, 1896-1939

Extent and form: 2 volumes and 1 document

Reproduction: photocopying and photography of the minutes permitted. Photography of the attachments at the IALS Archivist's discretion.

Administrative history: the Business and Procedure Committee was one of the standing committees established under the Bar Council Regulations of 1896.

The Business and Procedure Committee did not have a regular schedule of meetings but met as the need arose.

Scope and content: in addition to the signed Business and Procedure Committee minutes, these minute books contain minutes of committees appointed to discuss specific issues.

The minute books contain a few attachments. In the first volume they are mainly letters and in the second volume they are mainly resolutions or reports, plus a couple of agenda papers from the late 1930s.

Finding aids: both volumes contain an integral index. There is a system of cross referencing in the margins to the minutes of other meetings, to the minute books of other committees and to the letter books.

Important note for users: great care must be taken when unfolding the documents attached to these volumes, to prevent damage to either the volume or the attached documents.

BCO 13: Special Committee Minutes, 1909-1950

Extent and form: 4 volumes

Reproduction: photocopying and photography of the minutes permitted. Photography of the attachments at the IALS Archivist's discretion.

Administrative history: in addition to the regular committees, the Bar Council appointed other committees and sub-committees for specific purposes. They were known as the special committees and their remit was wide ranging, including practice issues, fees, legislation, courts and court procedure, the impact of government initiatives and international issues.

These committees did not have a regular schedule of meetings but met as the need arose.

Scope and content: the minute books contain the signed minutes of a range of committees and sub-committees appointed to consider particular issues and also of joint meetings between the Bar Council and other organisations, particularly the Law Society. Some committees considered issues arising at a specific time, such as the Recommendations Committee during the Second World War, while others were appointed to consider an issue that then recurred at a later date, such as the Special Committee on General Retainers. The minute books also contain the minutes of some joint meetings of the Bar Council's regular committees, such as the Executive Committee and Professional Conduct Committee in the 1940s.

The minute books contain a few attachments, including letters, notices issued, forms and lists, plus agenda papers from the 1930s.

Finding aids: minute books 1, 3 and 4 contain an integral index. There is a system of cross referencing in the margins of all four books to the minutes of other meetings, to the minute books of other committees and to the letter books.

Important note for users: care must be taken when unfolding the documents attached to these volumes, to prevent damage to either the volume or the attached documents.

BCO 14: Law Reform Committee Minutes, 1946-1957

Extent and form: 1 volume and 2 documents

Reproduction: photocopying and photography of the minutes permitted. Photography of the attachments at the IALS Archivist's discretion.

Administrative history: the Law Reform Committee was one of the regular committees established under the revised By-laws of 1946.

The Law Reform Committee did not have a regular schedule of meetings, but met as the need arose.

Scope and content: contains signed minutes. The minute book contains attachments, mainly consisting of agenda papers, reports and letters.

It appears the minutes of the Law Reform Committee after October 1957 are no longer extant, as later minutes were not transferred to IALS. The minutes of 31 October 1957 were signed and dated on 15 April 1958, which indicates the Law Reform Committee continued. From April 1952 the minutes are typescript and pasted into the minute books, so it is a reasonable assumption filing practice changed to a different method in the autumn of 1957, such as filing in folders, and this may account for the lack of continuity in the survival of the minutes.

Finding aids: the minute book contains an integral index, which covers the period to the end of 1949. There is a system of cross referencing in the margins to the minutes of other meetings, to the minute books of other committees and to the letter books, again covering the period to the end of 1949.

Extent and form: 1 volume

Reproduction: photocopying and photography of the minutes permitted. Photography of the attachments at the IALS Archivist's discretion.

Administrative history: the External Relations Committee and the Legal Education Committee were two of the regular committees established under the revised By-laws of 1946.

Neither the External Relations Committee nor the Legal Education Committee had a regular schedule of meetings but met as the need arose.

Scope and content: contains the minutes of two meetings of the Legal Education Committee in 1947 and 1953 and the signed minutes of the External Relations Committee from 1946-1956, plus the minutes of two related joint meetings in 1957.

The minute book contains a few attachments. They are mainly agenda papers, plus some reports and letters.

Related material: later Legal Education Committee minutes can be found in BCO 16.

Finding aids: the minute book contains an integral index, which covers the period to the end of 1949. BCO 17: Special Committee on a Central Organisation for the Inns of Court Minutes and Papers, 1961

Extent and form: 1 file

Administrative history: the idea of a central organisation for the Bar first emerged during the second half of the 1950s. Eventually, in 1961, the Bar Council Chairman sent a letter suggesting the idea to the Inns of Court and offering to formally send a Memorandum setting out the Bar Council's thinking. The Inns reply was positive to the idea and the offer of a Memorandum, so the Special Committee was appointed to produce the Memorandum.

Scope and content: only the minutes of first meeting are signed, but this is the formal record of the Committee's meetings. However, the file does not contain a copy of the final version of the Memorandum.

Related material: see BCO 28/20 for the Memorandum sent by the Bar Council to the four Inns of Court and their report in reply.

Reproduction: photography of the registers permitted. Photocopying at the IALS Archivist's discretion.

Administrative history: members were elected annually to the Bar Council.

BCO 26: Bar Organisation Records, 1969-1986

Extent and form: 1 file, 1 booklet and four documents

Administrative history: until the 1960s there was relatively little formal collaboration between the Bar's institutions. The first joint organisation was The Inns of Court Executive Council formed in 1962 (see BCO 17 and BCO 28/20). It was replaced by the Senate of the Four Inns of Court in 1966, which also involved the Bar Council. To further consideration of how a stronger central organisation could be developed the Senate set up a committee under Lord Pearce. The Pearce Committee issued an Interim Report in 1971, the responses to which led the Committee to amend its proposals in the Second Interim Report of 1973. These proposals became the basis on which the Senate of the Inns of Court and the Bar was constituted. The Senate functioned for just over a decade before recognised weaknesses introduced by the amended Pearce proposals and changing external circumstances led to the setting up of a committee under Lord Rawlinson PC QC to consider the Senate's constitution. The Report of the Committee on the Constitution of the Senate, April 1986 resulted in two organisations replacing the Senate from January 1987; the Bar Council and the Council of the Inns of Court.

Scope and content: this is a compiled series bringing together records relating to the organisation of the Bar that were not identifiably part of any other series. The documents in BCO 26/01 were originally together in a plastic folder, from which they have been removed. However, although a compiled file, it consists of significant documents relating to the Pearce Committee's work, so they have been catalogued individually.

Arrangement: the documents have been arranged chronologically.

Related material: see BCO 28 and BCO 33.

BCO 27: Royal Commission on Legal Services Submissions, 1977-1978

Extent and form: 7 volumes

Administrative history: the establishment of the Royal Commission on Legal Services was announced in the House of Commons by the Prime Minister on 12 February 1976. Its terms of reference were 'To enquire into the law and practice relating to the provision of legal services in England and Wales and to consider whether any, and if so what, changes are desirable in the public interest in the structure, organisation, training, regulation of and entry to the legal professions, including the arrangements for determining its remuneration, whether from private sources or public funds, and in the rules which prevent persons who are neither barristers nor solicitors from undertaking conveyancing and other legal business on behalf of other persons'.

The Senate of the Inns of Court and the Bar submitted a number of background descriptive papers, copies of the Bar's constitutional documents and recent Annual Statements of the Senate, together with these specific responses prepared for the Commission. The responses aimed to be representative for the profession and its institutions, although institutions and individuals were additionally at liberty to submit their own responses.

Related material: several files in BCO 29 contain preparatory material for the submissions to the Commission.

Finding aids: BCO 27/01 contains an index.

BCO 28: Registry Files, 1876-1987

Extent and form: 30 files

Administrative history: a registry system for classifying files was implemented at some point during the second half of the 20th Century, from which the files in this series are the survivals. Most of the files were created during the period the documents they contain were written, but a few are compiled files drawing together earlier documents from other sources.

Scope and content: the majority of files are from the Committee section of the registry system, covering governance, organisation and discipline. A PC reference is for Professional Conduct matters. It is unclear what the other reference letters stand for.

Arrangement: the files have been arranged alphabetically in file reference order.

Related material: BCO 17, containing the minutes and papers of the Special Committee on a Central Organisation of the Inns of Court, relates to BCO 28/20. A number of these Registry files overlap or expand on the records in BCO 26, Bar Organisation.
