International Law Association Archives

IDENTITY STATEMENT
Reference: ILA
Title: International Law Association
Dates: 1873-
Level: sub-fonds
Extent and Medium: Name of Creator: International Law Association

CONTEXT
Biographical/Administrative History: The International Law Association (ILA) was founded in Brussels in 1873 as an association to consist of Jurists, Economists, Legislators, Politicians and others taking an interest in the question of the reform and Codification of Public and Private International Law, the Settlement of Disputes by Arbitration, and the assimilation of the laws, practice and procedure of the Nations in reference to such laws (afternoon sitting of the first conference of members, 19 November 1873: reference ILA/1/1). It was initially called the Association for the Reform and Codification of the Law of Nations, changing its title to the International Law Association in the early 20th century.

The Association was to consist of a Council of officers comprising a President, vice presidents, secretaries and other members of the Conference (called the Bureau), plus a series of local, departmental or provincial committees who were to report to the President. These committees have since expanded into International Committees. The ILA's activities are now organised by an Executive Council, assisted by the Headquarters Secretariat in London. Membership of the Association, at present about 4,200, is spread among branches throughout the world and ranges from lawyers in private practice, academia, industrial and financial spheres, and representatives of bodies such as shipping and arbitration organisations and chambers of commerce. The ILA has consultative status, as an international non-governmental organisation, with a number of the United Nations specialised agencies.

The ILA appointed its first executive secretary in about the early 1950s. A 1982 memorandum from the Executive Council chairman, Lord Wilberforce (see ILA/27/1) clearly distinguished this position from that of the honorary secretary general: the executive secretary has executive responsibility for the administration of ILA headquarters; the honorary secretary general has no executive responsibility for the running of the office but is available for consultation and advice. ILA executive secretaries have included the following persons: G Worsley (c1960s), John Churchill
The ILA's objectives are pursued primarily through the work of its International Committees and the focal point of its activities is the series of Biennial Conferences. These conferences, of which over 70 have so far been held in different locations throughout the world, provide a forum for the comprehensive discussion and endorsement of the work of the committees.

CONTENT
Scope and Content: The records as transferred comprise the complete archive of the ILA from its inception until 1990 and include membership books, Constitution and bye-laws, minutes of conferences, Council and various committees, correspondence, conference, committee and branch files, financial records, press cuttings, newsletters, miscellaneous printed material and photographs, 1873-1990.

ACCESS AND USE
Language of Scripts: English, French, German
System of Arrangement: Printed and published material open.
Conditions of Access: Remaining records open 30 years after last date on file unless otherwise specified (some records may be closed for a further 10 years for reasons of confidentiality or to protect personal privacy; where this is the case the access conditions are specified in the individual series description). Requests for accelerated access to records by bona fide researchers should be made to the ILA Secretary.

Proceedings of the International Conference for the Reform and Codification of International Law at Brussels, 10-13 October 1873, which led to the formation of the Association for the Reform and Codification of the Law of Nations, subsequently renamed the International Law Association. These notes were written in 1899 or later, possibly as a draft for the publication of the First or Second Conference Report (published in 1903). Additionally there are several pages of notes on the proceedings written in a different hand (possibly closer to the time), and handwritten 'Minutes of Inaugural Meeting: M. Auguste Visschers in the Chair' (notes in French). Also included are the attendance list for the 10th of October; handwritten notes on the constitution and annotated printed copy; eight copies of pamphlet 'Association for the Reform and Codification of the Law of Nations: Officers, Minutes, and Proceedings, etc.', containing constitution of the Association, 1874; two contemporary newspaper clippings on the conference; 'The Law Journal' VIII:406, 25th October 1873, containing a letter from Montague Bernard about the Brussels conference; and three pamphlets, 'Der Verein für die Reform und Kodifizierung des Völkerrechts' by E. E. Wendt (annotated date 12th August 1878), 'Association pour la Reforme et la Codification du Droit des Gens: Esquisse Rapide de la Formation de L'Association rédigée pour la Conférence qui s'ouvrira à la Haye le premier septembre 1875' by James B. Miles (1875), and report of the General Secretary James B. Miles (7th September 1874).
ILA/1/1/2 Original drafts of rules for local committees
[1875-1877]
Hand-written early drafts of rules. Also includes heavily annotated draft of letters to newly-formed branches, originally drafted for the Egyptian branch (1875) but with annotations changing the address to the Japanese branch (1876); and the printed statutes of the German branch, 1877.

ILA/1/1/3 Printed matter
1873-1876
Press clippings, pamphlets and circulars. Includes circular invitations to Geneva conference in 1874; printed text of the constitution of the Association for the Reform and Codification of the Law of Nations (annotated for amendment); invitations to membership; summary of report on extradition (French). Documents in English and French.

ILA/1/7/6  ILA Secretary’s registered correspondence files: correspondence with officers and administration  1952-1989

ILA/1/7/6  ILA Secretary’s registered correspondence files: correspondence with officers and administration  1952-1989
This series appears to have been created by the Secretary General in the early 1950s to accommodate correspondence with other ILA officers, including past and current presidents of the ILA, Executive Council chairmen, Branch chairmen and Directors of Studies. Subject matter includes discussions on conferences, drafts of papers and finance and expenses, and some files contain officers’ CVs, biographical notes, obituaries and photographs. Compilation files on the office of secretary general are also included. Some later files include letters with reference numbers [ILA 1*], possibly copies of correspondence from the 'official' files of ILA officers.

Closed until 30 years after the last date on the file, and subsequently open.

ILA/1/8  Projects and partnerships with external organisations  1968-1992
Correspondence, reports and financial documents re research grants awarded by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) to the International Law Association (ILA). From 1975 onwards an overall contract was drawn up between the International Social Science Council (ISSC) and UNESCO, whereby a single grant was made by UNESCO to the ISSC. In return the ISSC and its constituent associations undertook the multidisciplinary study of social problems arising from the development process. Although effectively the UNESCO money was distributed to organisations such as the ILA as ISSC grants, the ILA continued to refer to the grants, both in filing and in internal correspondence, as 'UNESCO subventions', and so that name has been retained in the catalogue.
Correspondence, principally between Henri Cochaux, George Worsley, J.B.S. Edwards and Lord Wilberforce, re the opportunity for the International Law Association to work with UNESCO, being paid a subvention; and subsequent correspondence with UNESCO officials to ascertain terms and procedures for this.

1 folder

- Copy of contract between UNESCO and the ILA, in which UNESCO agree to fund the ILA to investigate and advise on the operations of existing national groups of international law specialists in Senegal, Ivory Coast, Tanzania and Tunisia, and the possibility of establishing a chair of international law or a specialist documentation centre in these countries (1968);
- Correspondence accompanying this contract, re supplementary payments to Cochaux;
- Correspondence between UNESCO and ILA officials re continuing co-operation between the organisations;
- Letter confirming award of 1969 subvention to the ILA, in return for submission of relevant activity and financial reports;
- 1969 report of activities assisted by subventions;
- Copy of contract between UNESCO and the ILA in which UNESCO agree to fund the ILA to carry out an international survey on the teaching of human rights at university level (1970).

ILA/1/11 Publications 1936-2005

Documentation of journals published by the International Law Association; newsletters and bound volumes.
ILA/1/11/1  Bulletin of the International Law Association  1936-1938

Five newsletters, in a complete run numbered one to five, with news of conferences and other events, and membership news. There is no indication as to whether or why publication seized with issue number 5, published in November 1938.

1 folder

Fourteen newsletters. The publication of an association-wide bulletin was proposed in a Report of the Planning Committee in the early 1970s, and approved and adopted by the 56th conference in New Delhi in 1974. Its aim was to attract interest in the ILA's organisation and activities, and forge closer links between branches and headquarters membership by circulating information of branch activities. Due to lack of resources, this wasn't implemented until 1991, under the editorship of Klaus Cuperus. The second issue was published in 1994, under the editorship of Peter Nygh, who edited thirteen editions until his resignation in 2000.

In files relating to more recent committees, applications for membership are sometimes accompanied by curricula vitae. Where these contain personal information - e.g. date of birth, home address - such documents have been temporarily closed and separated from the main file for the duration of the closure period. Resumés which do not contain personal data have been left open. A similar procedure has been followed where address lists include home addresses rather than business addresses.

ILA/3/4  Air Law Committee  1911-1937
Correspondence, reports and administrative papers.

3 files
Variously known as Aerial Law/Aviation Law/Air and Space Law Committee, the Committee was established in 1912 following a decision taken at the Paris Conference of that year, and was initially engaged in preparatory work for the first international Air Convention. This work was interrupted by the war, and when the Committee resumed, it was to find that work in the field had been accelerated by international events. In 1919, an International Air Convention was signed by several states of the Allied and Associated Powers, with air navigation between the signatories and the enemy states being governed by several Treaties of Peace. The 1919 Convention also provided for the establishment of a permanent International Commission for Air Navigation as part of the organisation of the League of Nations. The role of the Aerial Law Committee of the International Law Association thus became to comment and advise on the 1919 Convention, as noted in the Conference Report of the 29th Conference held at Portsmouth in 1920.

ILA/3/4/1  Comité Juridique International de l’Aviation – British Section  1911-1924
The Comité Juridique International de l’Aviation was founded in 1909 and held its first conference at the Trocadéro in 1911, under the presidency of M. Millerand. It prepared a Code de l’Air. This file contains minutes of the British Section of the Comité between November 1911 and March 1912, sent [by Edward Stanley Mould Perowne] to Dr. Hugh Bellot with covering letter. It also contains later minutes of the Section (1922-1924), along with memoranda and articles issued by the Comité.

The International Commission for Air Navigation was instituted by the International Air Convention of 13th October 1919 and organised in 1922. In June 1929 it held an Extraordinary Session, at which all the states which had not yet adhered to the Convention were invited to meet with the contracting states to discuss possible modifications to the Convention which would make it acceptable to all parties. This file contains a summary of proceedings and of conclusions reached at the various sittings of the session. It also contains ‘Proposals for an International Air Navigation Convention’ submitted by Dr. Hermann Döring (one copy in German, one in English, and two copies of Appendix B annotated ‘Translation made at Air Ministry’).

The International Law Association (ILA) involved itself in maritime law at an early stage, achieving at its 1877 Antwerp Conference the feat of unifying the Rules of General Average, which almost immediately came into use as the York-Antwerp Rules of General Average (see ILA/3/14). These were revised again at ILA conferences in Liverpool in 1890, and in Stockholm in 1924. The Maritime Law Committee of the ILA drafted the Hague Rules, 1921. They were adopted by the ILA at their thirtieth Conference at the Hague, September 1921.

The ILA also played a key role in the formation of the International Maritime Committee/Comité Maritime International, after Antwerp lawyer Louis Franck addressed a plea to the ILA for the formation of an international organisation to achieve international unification of maritime law through the elaboration of relevant international draft treaties. This was approved and supported by the ILA in 1896, leading to the formation of the Belgian Association of Maritime Law in Antwerp. In 1897, several National Associations, taking the Belgian Association as a model, joined together to form the International Maritime Committee.
ILA/3/5/2 Maritime Law Committee - publications on regulations 1921-1950

ILA/3/19  International Committee on the Legal Aspects of Inter-Country Adoption and Protection of Children  1985-1998
Minutes, correspondence, and texts of regulations.
Planning for a committee on 'International Recognition of the Adoption of Children' began in 1984 at the request of the Director of Studies to the Executive Council authority, following suggestions made to him by the Argentine and Netherlands branches. J.H.A. van Loon was appointed by the Executive Council as Rapporteur at its meeting of 26 April 1986. By 1989, the committee had been established as the 'Committee on Legal Aspects of Intercountry Adoption and Protection of Children'. In anticipation of the coming into force, in 1995, of the Hague Convention on Protection of Children and Co-operation in Respect of Intercountry Adoption, the Committee was renamed as the 'Committee on Legal Aspects of Intercountry Adoption and Protection of the Family' to investigate familial legal issues as a continuum. Mr. van Loon resigned as Rapporteur of the Committee to focus on his work, as First Secretary, Hague Conference on Private International Law, on the 1993 Hague Convention. He was succeeded by Dr. Gail McKnight Beckman and Dr. Monica Grill as joint Rapporteurs. The Committee was wound up by the Executive Council on 26th April 1997.

The Free City of Danzig (German: Freie Stadt Danzig; Polish: Wolne Miasto Gdansk) was a semi-autonomous city-state that existed between 1920 and 1939, consisting of the Baltic Sea port of Danzig (now Gdansk, Poland) and nearly 200 towns in the surrounding areas. It was created on 15 November 1920[1][2] in accordance with the terms of Article 100 (Section XI of Part III) of the 1919 Treaty of Versailles after the end of World War I. After the German invasion of Poland in 1939, the Nazis abolished the Free City and incorporated the area into the newly formed Reichsgau of Danzig-West Prussia. After the war, the city became part of Poland, as a consequence of the Potsdam Agreement.

The Grotius Society was a British society founded in 1915 to carry on the work of the International Law Association, whose operations had been suspended during the First World War. It was originally called the Laws of War Committee, but changed its name in July 1915. Its objects were declared as being "to afford facilities for discussion of the Laws of War and Peace, and for interchange of opinions regarding their operation, and to make suggestions for their reform, and generally to advance the study of international law." Its membership was originally restricted to British subjects, although membership nominations suggest that by 1920 this was no longer the case.

In 1958, it was dissolved on the merger with the Society of Comparative Legislation and International Law, founded in 1895, to form the British Institute of International and Comparative Law.
