Browsing a collection

Once you have selected a collection, you can browse the contents by title or other criteria, as shown below.

The screenshot shows the HeinOnline Law Journal Library interface. At the top, there are navigation tabs for 'Full Text', 'Citation', 'Catalog', and 'Case Law'. A search bar is present with the text 'Search Law Journal Library...'. Below the search bar, there are links for 'Advanced Search' and 'Search Help'. The main content area shows a breadcrumb trail: 'Collections > Law Journal Library'. Below this, there is a 'Browse by:' section with a red circle around the options: 'All Titles', 'State (U.S.)', 'Country', 'Subject', and 'Most-Cited'. Below the 'Browse by:' section, there is an alphabetical list of journals starting with 'A'. The list includes 'AALL Spectrum', 'ABA Journal', and 'ABA Journal of Affordable Housing & Community Development Law'. Each journal entry includes its title and volume information.

To read the journal Acta Juridica, click on its title in the alphabetical list. From here you can choose a volume and drill down to a specific article using the Table of Contents (see below).

The screenshot shows the HeinOnline interface for the journal Acta Juridica. The breadcrumb trail is 'Collections > Law Journal Library > Acta Juridica > 2011 (2011)'. The 'Table of Contents' link is circled in red. The table of contents lists several articles with their titles and page numbers. The main content area displays the title of the selected article: 'Pluralism and Development: Studies in Access to Property in Africa'. At the top of the page, there are navigation arrows and a 'Next Page' button.

To move through a volume or article, click on the arrows at the top of the page. Alternatively, use the page number drop-down menu.

Searching

Each collection has a simple search facility – the default – and, below this, an Advanced Search facility.

The Citation search tab applies to the whole of HeinOnline, not just the selected collection.

Looking up a specific publication on HeinOnline

Use the Catalog tab to check whether a particular journal, book or other publication is on HeinOnline. Start typing its title and - if it is available - HeinOnline will complete it for you, as shown below:

The screenshot shows the HeinOnline interface with the 'Catalog' tab active. The search bar contains the text 'baltic yearbook of' and a dropdown menu below it displays the suggestion 'Baltic Yearbook of International Law'. Other tabs like 'Full Text', 'Citation', and 'Case Law' are visible.

Searching HeinOnline's Catalog for the Baltic Yearbook of International Law

To access the publication, click on the full title.

Note that the Catalog only lists the publications that are on HeinOnline, it does not list items within those publications: for example, it lists journals, but not the articles within them. To search within the publications on HeinOnline, use the Full Text tab.

Tips for searching

HeinOnline only recognises search connectors in upper case, for example:

arbitration AND evidence

employment OR labor OR labour

Phrases should be put in double quotation marks, for example, "regional custom".

To find variations of a word, truncate it using an asterisk: bank finds bank, banks, banker, bankers, banking, bankrupt, et cetera.

For proximity searching, select Advanced Search. Use the drop-down menus on the right to change the default 'AND' connector to a proximity connector, e.g. 'Within 10'. You will also need to change the second box label to 'Text'.

The screenshot shows the 'Advanced Search' page in HeinOnline. The 'Advanced Search' link is circled in red. The search interface includes a search bar, a navigation menu with 'Advanced Search' circled, and a search form with three input fields. The first field is labeled 'Text' and contains '"regional custom"'. The second field is labeled 'Text' and contains '"international law"'. The third field is labeled 'Creator/Author' and is empty. The connector between the first two fields is 'AND'. The proximity dropdown is set to 'Within 10'. A red arrow points to the 'Within 10' dropdown.
