Overview

HeinOnline is an online service that provides databases of US, international, Canadian, UK and other law publications: journals, treaties, constitutions, United Nations material, classic treatises, the Index to Foreign Legal Periodicals, legislation and more.

Access

On-site access to HeinOnline is available at IALS Library, Senate House Library, SAS and University of London law departments. Connect via the IALS Library's Law Databases page: >

Remote access is available to holders of current IALS Library, SAS or Senate House Library cards if they are: IALS/SAS staff, fellows or students; University of London law staff or students; or academic members of Senate House Library. Log on via the IALS databases page, selecting 'remote access'.

Browsing a database

The available databases – for example, Law Journal Library - are listed on the HeinOnline home page.

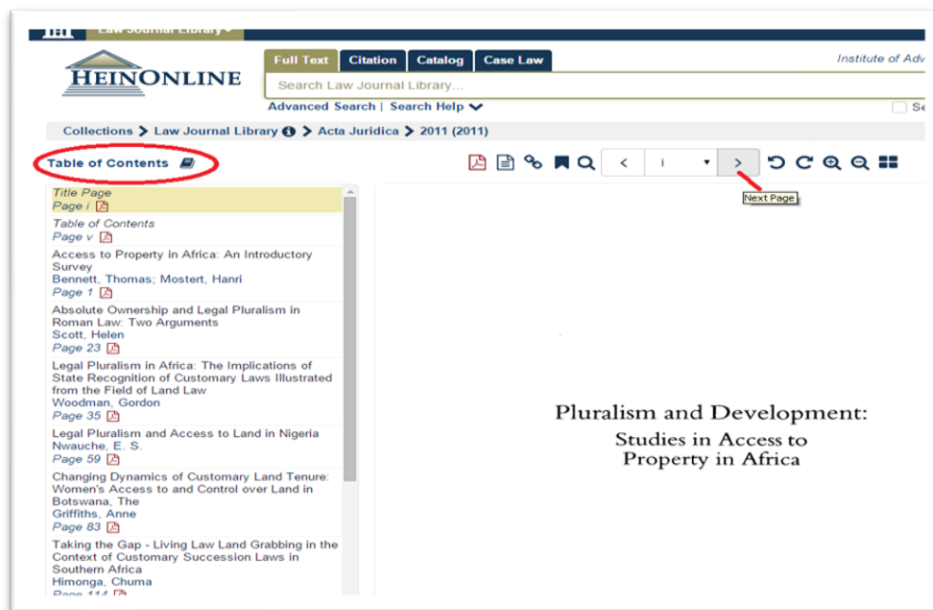

Select a database, then browse its contents by title or other criteria:-

Journal Title	Full Text Availability
AALL Spectrum	Vols. 1-19 (1996-2015)
ABA Journal	Full Text: Vols. 1-98 (1915-2011); American Bar Association Journ Indexed: Vols. 1-101#8 (1915-2011)

Browsing HeinOnline's Law Journal Library

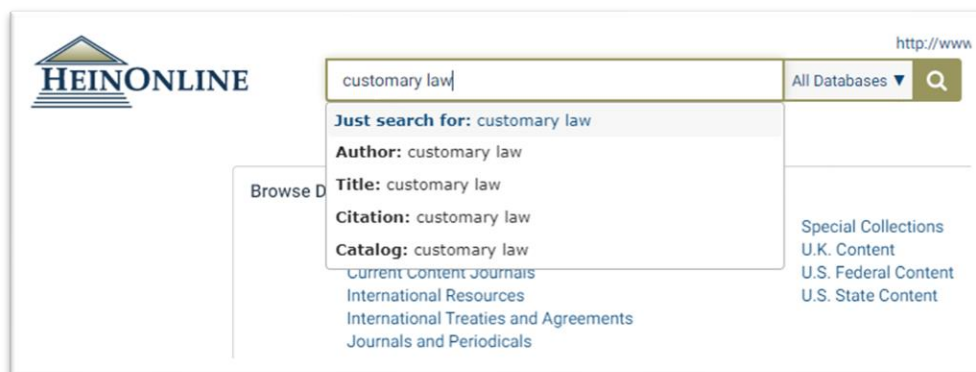

To read a particular journal, click on its title, then choose a volume, then drill down to a specific article using the Table of Contents (circled below).

To move through a volume or article, click on the arrows at the top of the page, or use the page number drop-down menu.

Searching

Start typing search terms and HeinOnline will prompt you to search by key word ('Just search for:'), author, title, or citation, or to search the contents list of the entire HeinOnline service (the 'Catalog').

To restrict your search to one or more particular databases, instead of the whole HeinOnline service, click on the All Databases' drop-down menu and select the databases that you require.

An Advanced Search facility is available via a link below the main search box. Advanced Search offers additional facilities, such as specifying how close together words are in a document (proximity searching), and setting a date range.

Tips for searching

HeinOnline only recognises connectors in upper case, for example:

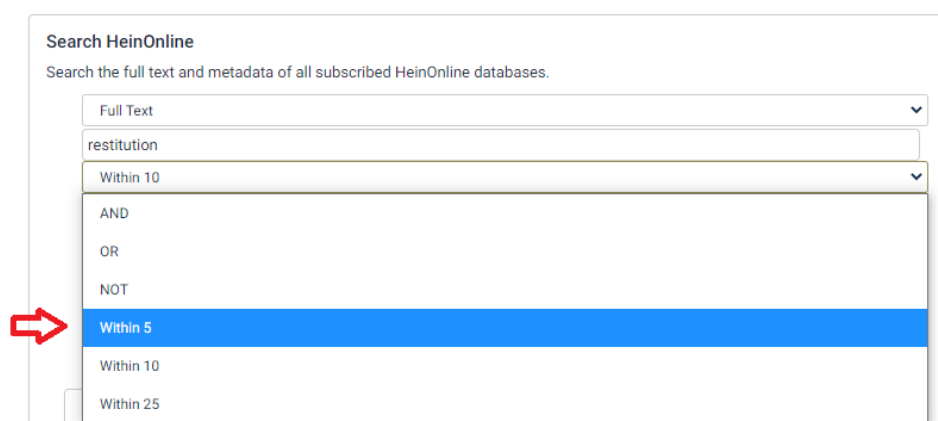

arbitration AND evidence

employment OR labor OR labour

Phrases should be in double quotation marks, for example, “regional custom”.

To find variations of a word, truncate it using an asterisk: bank finds bank, banks, banker, bankers, banking, bankrupt, et cetera.

To find documents in which your search terms appear close together, select Advanced Search and use the drop-down menus to the right to change the default ‘AND’ connector to a proximity connector, e.g. ‘Within 10’. You will also need to change the second box label to ‘Text’. ‘Within 10’ finds the search terms occurring within ten words of each other.

Proximity searching on the Advanced Search page

Further information about searching is available if you click on ‘Search Help’, underneath the Search box on the home page.
