

11 October – IALS Library News Roundup

October

Welcome to all new and returning IALS Library members. Each month we share a news roundup to keep you updated with the latest information from IALS Library.

October may be spooky season, but don't let legal research scare you!

Legal research can sometimes feel a bit scary, especially when you're starting out on a new course, at a new university, maybe even in a new country! You might be wondering what the best sources of books, journals, cases, and legislation are (hint, Google isn't going to cut it). Put your worries to rest this autumn by attending our free research skills training sessions.

Sessions are free and all members are welcome to attend. See our website for the full listings.

Saluting our Sisters: Black History Month at IALS Library

To mark Black History Month this October, IALS Library's latest display is on the theme 'Saluting our Sisters'. The display highlights the achievements of black women in law, showcasing items from our collections. You will find it at the library entrance on the second floor. Come and have a look!

Law Podcasts

Love a good podcast? So do we! And what could be better than combining two things you love, podcasts and law? We've curated a list of law podcasts for your listening pleasure. If you know of a great legal podcast, let us know and we'll add it to our list.
