MARSH 02: Advisory Committee on Legal Education Agenda, Minutes and Papers, 1980-1988

Extent and form: 1 archive box

Access: open. Formerly closed for 30 years in accordance with the Regulations of the General Council of the Bar and the Law Society.

Administrative history: the Advisory Committee on Legal Education (ACLE) was established in 1971 by the Senate of the Four Inns of Court in conjunction with the Law Society. It came into being as a result of the recommendations of the Ormrod Committee, which concluded that communication between the profession and the various Law faculties and departments was inadequate. Its brief was to consult with and advise the Senate of the Four Inns, the Law Society and the universities, polytechnics and colleges of further education on all matters affecting the education and training of candidates for entry to the legal profession. During its lifetime the Committee prepared several reports on legal education. Copies will be found in most Law Libraries.

The Committee's membership comprised a Chairman nominated by the Lord Chancellor, four members of the Inns of Court, four members of the Law Society and eight representatives of law teachers from the universities, polytechnics and colleges of further education. The law teachers were usually nominated by the ALT and the SPTL.

Scope and content: Dr Marsh was a member of the ACLE from its inception until 1988, representing the ALT. The papers listed below consist of his copies of Committee minutes and papers. Some are annotated.

Copyright: General Council of the Bar.
